Art Unit: 3727

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-3, 5, 7-13, 15, 17, 19, 25 and 27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Apps ('814) (Apps).

Apps discloses the crate including the divider assembly having dividers (dividing walls 116, 216) and standoff portions (formed by support areas 122 with a raised circular rib, a longitudinal rib and a transverse rib).

Claims 1-5, 7-15, 17, 19, 20, 23, 25, 26 and 28 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Gale.

Gale discloses a crate for holding a beverage container, the crate comprising a unitary bottom panel (minor flaps 21, 22 and inserts 81, 82) having an upper surface (the upper surfaces of both inserts), sidewalls (SIDE 1, SIDE 2, END 1 and END 2) and a divider assembly having a plurality of divider members (formed by portions of the upper surface of inserts 81 and 82 located outside of and extending between the major wells (91) and the upwardly extending sidewall portions of the wells) attached to the upper surface of the bottom panel and extending longitudinally and transversely in the compartment area to define at least one container receiving area for receiving the beverage container therein, the divider assembly including a plurality of low profile standoff portions (cylindrical rib 96) having a container contact surface (inside surface, outside surface or upper edge surface) spaced from corresponding divider members, the standoff portions extending inwardly into the at least one container receiving area for engaging the lower portion of the container to provide stability thereto and for maintaining the corresponding beverage container in a spaced relationship from the divider members.

The minor flaps 21 and 22 are secured to the inserts 81 and 82, respectively (see column 4, lines 24 and 25) and the minor flaps 21 and 22 are indirectly secured to each other by being attached to the sidewalls by fold lines 46, 47 (see column 3, lines 43-46). The bottom panel is unitary. The bottom panel and the first and second pairs of side walls form a unitary construction.

For claims 5 and 15, the insert 81 has recesses (opposite rib 98, see Fig. 7), each recess is capable of receiving a projection.

For claim 10, the container receiving area can be more than a single bottle receiving area and can include four bottle receiving areas, so four standoffs extend within at least one container receiving area.

For claim 28, the bottle 77 engages the outer side of standoff portion 96 (see Fig. 2).

Claims 27-29, 32 and 33 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Hepp.

Hepp discloses a unitary crate for holding a beverage container, the crate comprising a unitary bottom panel (one of the bottom walls of a pocket) having an upper surface, sidewalls (12, 14, 16 and 18) and a divider assembly having a plurality of divider members (formed by portions of the crate except for the bottom wall, the sidewalls and the standoff portions 46) attached to the upper surface of the bottom panel and extending longitudinally and transversely in the compartment area to define at least one container receiving area for receiving the beverage container therein, the divider assembly including a plurality of low profile standoff portions (46)

having a container contact surface spaced from corresponding divider members, the standoff portions extending inwardly into the at least one container receiving area for engaging the lower portion of the container to provide stability thereto and for maintaining the corresponding beverage container in a spaced relationship from the divider members.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 6, 16 and 24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Gale in view of Apps.

Gale discloses the invention except for the projection receiving portion on the underside of the bottom and the projection on the upper surface of the lid. Apps teaches the projection receiving portion on the underside of the bottom and the projection on the upper surface of the lid. It would have been obvious to add the projection receiving portion on the underside of the bottom and the projection on the upper surface of the lid motivated by a need to stack the crates with more stability since this arrangement prevents sliding.

Claim 21 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Gale in view of Jamison.

Gale discloses the invention except for the lid lock. Jamison teaches a lid lock. It would have been obvious to lock the lid to prevent unauthorized access to the contents of the crate.

Claims 30 and 31 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim.

Art Unit: 3727

Applicant's arguments filed February 25, 2003 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Apps ('814) and Gale are deemed to read on the invention.

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

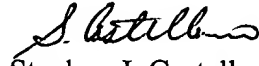

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
